

Article 7 (2) to (4) - Formal requirements applicable to agreements on the choice of applicable law

Please note that the original language version of this page [\[ro\]](#) has been amended recently. The language version you are now viewing is currently being prepared by our translators.

There are no further formal requirements applicable to agreements on the choice of law than those stipulated by Article 7 (1) of Regulation (EU) No 1259 /2010.

Article 5 (3) - Possibility of designating the applicable law during the course of the proceeding

Please note that the original language version of this page [\[ro\]](#) has been amended recently. The language version you are now viewing is currently being prepared by our translators.

Under Romanian law, the spouses may also designate the law applicable to divorce after the court has been seized, but no later than the date of the first court hearing at which the spouses have been legally summoned.

Last update: 16/10/2015

The national language version of this page is maintained by the respective Member State. The translations have been done by the European Commission service. Possible changes introduced in the original by the competent national authority may not be yet reflected in the translations. The European Commission accepts no responsibility or liability whatsoever with regard to any information or data contained or referred to in this document. Please refer to the legal notice to see copyright rules for the Member State responsible for this page.

Member States in charge of the management of national content pages are in the process of updating some of the content on this website in the light of the withdrawal of the United Kingdom from the European Union. If the site contains content that does not yet reflect the withdrawal of the United Kingdom, it is unintentional and will be addressed.