Insolvenzregister

Alle EU-Mitgliedstaaten führen Insolvenz- und Konkursregister, zu denen Sie Informationen abfragen können. Die Register werden zurzeit miteinander verbunden und mit einer zentralen Durchsuchungsfunktion versehen.

In den Registern werden Informationen im Zusammenhang mit Insolvenzen registriert, ausgewertet und gespeichert, die dann der Öffentlichkeit – wenn auch je nach Land auf unterschiedlicher Weise – zur Verfügung gestellt werden:

Länder mit gesonderten Insolvenzregistern – Hier werden Informationen zu allen Phasen des Insolvenzverfahrens und den Verfahrensparteien veröffentlicht.

Bankruptcy and insolvency registers - Belgium

This section provides information on registers concerning cases of insolvency in Belgium.

What is the situation regarding insolvency registers in Belgium?

In Belgium, a distinction must be made between businesses, which may be legal persons or natural persons, and natural persons who are not businesses (individuals).

As regards businesses, there is a central national insolvency register known as the Central Solvency Register (Registre Central de la Solvabilité / Centraal Register Solvabiliteit) for businesses which are the subject of insolvency proceedings, namely judicial reorganisation (réorganisation judiciaire / gerechtelijke reorganisatie) or bankruptcy proceedings <https://www.regsol.be/>

As regards individuals, Belgium has a database which centralises certain information relating to over-indebted persons who have chosen to initiate collective debt settlement proceedings. This database has been set up at the National Bank of Belgium but is not public.

Is consultation of insolvency registers in Belgium a paid-for service?

No, there are no charges for consultation.

Yes, there are charges for the filing of certain documents and the management of files.

See the following link: <https://dp-a.be/fr/tarifs-dpa-regsol>

How to search an insolvency register in Belgium

The first step is to create an account.

Anyone can ask to consult an ongoing file. You search for it by clicking on 'Request access to an open file' on the homepage. Your request for access is examined by:

the receiver (curateur/curator) – for bankruptcies before 1 May 2018

the supervisory judge (juge-commissaire / rechter-commissaris) – for bankruptcies after 1 May 2018

the delegated judge (juge délégué / gedelegeerd rechter) - for judicial reorganisation proceedings where the request for access is made by a party other than a creditor

the debtor (or their counsel) - for judicial reorganisation proceedings where the request for access is made by a party other than a creditor the debtor in the judicial reorganisation or bankruptcy proceedings, only when:

the request for access is made by the debtor's counsel

the debtor is actually associated with the file in question

If no debtor is associated with the file, requests for access made by the debtor's counsel are dealt with by the following persons (see above also):

the delegated judge (judicial reorganisation proceedings) the supervisory judge (for bankruptcies with a judgment date after 1 May 2018)

the receiver (for bankruptcies with a judgment date before 1 May 2018)

You will receive an email and a notification as soon as you have been granted access. If you are refused access, the reason is given in the notification and the email.

If you have access to a file and the file is closed, you can continue to have access in the RegSol archives.

If you do not yet have access to a file which has been closed in the meantime, the request goes to the registry of the commercial court (tribunal de l'entreprise / ondernemingsrechtbank) concerned, which may then grant you access by inviting you to consult a closed file in the archives.

Period covered by insolvency registers in Belgium

The register contains all information and documents relating to insolvency cases, i.e. all ongoing bankruptcies and judicial reorganisation proceedings opened from 1 May 2018 which have not been closed.

As a result of the multilingual solution that has been put in place, the process of acquiring insolvency information across borders is more transparent and the information itself is easier to access. The information is available free of charge. The portal has a basic search function, which enables searches to be made in all the interconnected registers by debtor name, and also advanced search functionality, where the search criteria depend on which country's register is being searched in. In the future (expected to be in 2021), Ametlikud Teadaanded will be linked to the e-Justice portal, which contains all the mandatory information about the publication of insolvency proceedings under Article 24 of Regulation (EU) 2015/848 of the European Parliament and of the Council.

Bankruptcy and insolvency registers - Spain

The Spanish insolvency register

Public information on insolvencies and insolvency proceedings is an essential element of transparency and legal certainty. In Spain, this is provided by means of the Public Insolvency Register (Registro Público Concursal), which is regulated by Article 198 of the Insolvency Law. This Law was implemented by Royal Decree 892/2013 of 15 November 2013, under which the Public Insolvency Register is managed by the Association of Registrars (Colegio de Registradores), attached to the Ministry of Justice.

The Public Insolvency Register has a threefold purpose:

Dissemination and publication of the decisions and acts issued under the Insolvency Law, and of the register entries arising from the insolvency proceedings.

Coordination between the various public registers in which the declaration of insolvency and the progress of the proceedings must be recorded.

Generation of the list of insolvency administrators that meet the legal and regulatory requirements. However, this function has not yet been implemented.

The Public Insolvency Register is on an internet portal:  <https://www.publicidadconcursal.es/concursal-web/>.

The purpose of the Public Insolvency Register is to group together the relevant information generated in the course of insolvency proceedings, for purposes purely of information and public disclosure.

¿Is access to the insolvency register free of charge?

Access to the Public Insolvency Register is free of charge.

¿Searching the insolvency register

The Public Insolvency Register is structured in four sections within which the entries are ordered by party subject to insolvency proceedings, or debtor, in chronological order:

Section 1 (insolvency notices): this contains decisions that must be published in accordance with Article 23 of the Insolvency Law and decisions recording the opening of negotiations in accordance with Article 5 bis of that Law. It also contains information on the opening of insolvency proceedings initiated in another Member State in accordance with EU law on insolvency proceedings.

Section 2 (information in public registers): includes annotations and entries made in any of the public registers of persons that are referred to in Article 24 of the Insolvency Law.

Section 3 (out-of-court agreements): contains information regarding steps taken to reach out-of-court agreements on payments under Title X of the Insolvency Law and regarding the court approval of refinancing agreements under the fourth additional provision of the Insolvency Law.

Section 4 (insolvency administrators and their delegated assistants – still to be created and developed).

In searches, the names of the insolvent debtor or the insolvency administrator can be entered: this will find the information available on them in any of the sections.

History of the insolvency register

The 2003 Insolvency Law did not provide for a register to give information on insolvency proceedings in general. The question came under the arrangements for publication laid down at the time in Spanish company law, which were based on the publication of notices in the highest-circulation daily newspapers in the province in question. This increasingly meant that proceedings were brought to a standstill, since the costs of publication had to be borne by the insolvency estate, which was not always able to pay them.

Article 198 of the Insolvency Law did make provision for a public register of cases of culpable insolvency and the appointment or disqualification of insolvency administrators. That register was expanded and given the name 'Public Insolvency Register' by Royal Decree 3/2009 of 29 March 2009 on urgent measures in taxation, financial and insolvency matters to address the changing economic situation. Since then, the provision has been amended several times, and there have also been changes affecting other legislation providing for the publication of certain steps through the Register. The current rules implementing Article 198 of the Insolvency Law are set out in Royal Decree 892/2013 of 15 November 2013 on the Public Insolvency Register.
